CHATSWORTH, Calif. (AP) — Nine persons died today when a bomb blasted the headquarters of a religious cult's ranch in the barren Chatsworth Hills. Two were children.

Authorities recovered eight bodies and part of a ninth from the fiery wreckage. Krishna Vanta, leader of the Mountain of the World Cult, was one of those killed.

Three persons, two of them children, were injured. Sheriff's deputies speculated that one unidentified body might be that of the bomber. Survivors said a man carrying a canvas bag was seen on the property a few minutes before the explosion blew apart the cult's administration building.

Judge Wants No Part of Probe

CLEVELAND (AP) — Soft-spoken U.S. District Judge James C. Connolly, whose name was introduced into a Senate-Rockefeller committee hearing, will have no part of the committee investigation.

He made it clear that he will not appear before the committee as suggested by his head, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark).

Connolly's name came up during testimony in Washington Tuesday and was linked by McClellan with a gift-silver champagne buckets distributed in 1955 by Ohio Teamsters Union officials in whose favor Connolly recently ruled.

He knew nothing of any such gift, the judge said, "except I never received it."

His ruling came in a case involving Youngstown, Ohio, Local 377. A group of candidates seeking to oust the local incumbent leadership had been ruled ineligible for election by James R. Hoffa, international president. The monitors countermanded Hoffa's ruling.

Connolly held the monitors lacked authority to challenge Hoffa's administration of the union. They could only advise, he said.

Two Die in Arkadelphia Plane Crash

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — Two persons were killed last night in the crash of a light airplane near the Okolona community, 20 miles southwest of here.

Sheriff Buren Hardin identified the victims as Olen Smith, 54, of Benton, and Mertie Daynes, 40, of San Bernardino, Calif.

Gasoline from the craft's fuel tank spilled onto a nearby frame house and set it afire. The sheriff said two persons inside escaped uninjured before the building was destroyed.

The plane struck a treetop and then plowed into the earth next to the house. There were no survivors.

At Little Rock, State Police said the plane was off course on a flight from Altus, Okla., to Benton, Smith recently moved from Dallas, Tex., to Benton and opened a flying service.

Mistrial in the Georgia Bombing Case

ATLANTA (AP) — Judge Durham T. Pye today declared a mistrial in the state's efforts to convict George Bright of the Jewish Temple bombing and inflict the death penalty.

The mistrial came with the jurors hopelessly deadlocked nine-to-three slightly more than 48 hours after they began their deliberations.

The jurors disclosed that the division had been the same since 11 a. m. Monday. There was no disclosure of whether the majority stood for acquittal or conviction.

The jurors, worn and weary from the long, frustrating efforts to reach an agreement, were summoned to the court room shortly after 11 a. m.

The judge asked all who thought there was no chance of an agreement to raise their hands. All did. Then he directed an order of mistrial, explaining that there was no Georgia law to compel jurors to deliberate until they were physically exhausted.

Won't Bother Highway Dept. Faubus Declares

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he would rigidly maintain the "hands off" attitude which he said has characterized his administration's relations with the Highway Commission.

"My critics should be at least partly convinced after four years that I mean what I say about that," Faubus said.

Under the Mack-Blackwell constitutional amendment of 1952, the five member Highway Commission which was set up so no Governor could place a majority of his appointees on the body.

However, the amendment was written with Arkansas tradition that no governor wins a third term in mind.

Faubus made his third appointment, former State Sen. Lawrence Blackwell of Pine Bluff, a co-author of the amendment, last summer, following the accidental death of commissioner Cecil S. Lynch of Pine Bluff.

His third term success gave him the opportunity to choose a fourth member, and he said he will name Armit Taylor of Clarksville to succeed Raymond F. Orr of Fort Smith next month.

Faubus referred to Taylor as a "non-controversial figure and there has been no open criticism of the impending appointment since it was announced last week."

The governor said he would make no suggestions to the commission on the future of Highway Director Herbert Eldridge, who has frequently been under fire from both Faubus and the Legislature during the past four years.

Faubus also said he would take no part in the commission's announced aim of augmenting its road building funds by a 7 1/2 million dollar increase in highway user taxes.

"I'll up to the commission to make its case for the tax increase and sell it to the Legislature and the public," Faubus said.

Several legislators have criticized the commission's proposal saying no tax increase should be enacted in the 1959 session following the 22 million dollar tax package of 1957.

Faubus said he would not recommend any kind of tax increase to the 1959 General Assembly.

Democrat Drive Will Run Short, Carpenter Says

By JOHN R. STARR — LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The chairman of a drive for Democrats drive in Arkansas said today the fund raising campaign will fall short of its $50,000 goal, principally because of opposition to the national party.

Claude Carpenter Jr., who recently was named secretary to congressman-elect Dale Alford, said the exact total raised would not be known until reports were in from all 75 counties.

"A large number of counties aren't giving a thing," Carpenter said. "They say they won't as long as Paul Butler is the party chairman."

Carpenter said the resistance developed although he stated emphatically throughout the drive that none of the money would be sent to the national party because of remarks made by Butler criticizing Gov. Orval E. Faubus and his handling of the Little Rock integration crisis.

Carpenter attended a national party meeting last week at Washington. At the meeting Butler was given an overwhelming vote of confidence by delegates. Carpenter was one of the dissenting votes.

A former attorney for the Arkansas Public Service Commission, Carpenter quit his state job late in October to manage Alford's successful write-in campaign against Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark), the Democratic nominee.

Carpenter said he anticipated no trouble in Alford's being seated in the House as a Democrat. A special House committee has taken steps to look into charges by John F. Wells, publisher of a Little Rock weekly newspaper, that irregularities were involved in Alford's victory over Hays.

In the history of the House, there has never been an occasion where a representative was re-elected.

Dr. McClanahan Is Kiwanis Speaker

Dr. John McClanahan, pastor of First Baptist Church, was the featured speaker before the Hope Kiwanis Club Tuesday.

His subject was "National Bible Week," and he traced the origin of the Bible, its many translations and languages down through the ages. He also told of the work of the American Bible Society and praised the organization for its work.

George W. Lambert was introduced as a new member. Tom Purvis and Charlie Benson of Hope were guests. Paul Adell of Camden was also a guest.

Recount Underway at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Twelve election officials today were recounting more than 14,000 votes cast in three races in Saturday's city school board election.

Recounts were asked by three defeated candidates.

"I thought we might get through this afternoon but now I'm not so sure," said E. A. Henry, chairman of the Pulaski County Board of Election Commissioners.

The recounting began this morning. It was requested by W. F. Reclor, Mrs. Charles Stephens and C. C. Bailey, respectively defeated by Ben D. Rowland Sr., Traffic Judge R. W. Laster and Russell Matson Jr.

Defiance in Alabama Brings Ike's Appeal for Respect of 'Law'

Alabama Scene of Test of U. S., State Rights

By REX THOMAS

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — An explosive new test of strength between the state and federal governments—unequaled since Little Rock—broke out in Alabama today over the issue of Negro voting.

State and county officials who defied the U. S. Civil Rights Commission's first attempt to investigate complaints of racial discrimination stood their ground in the face of threatened federal court action.

The Justice Department in Washington, acting at the commission's request, started proceedings Tuesday to ask for a court order to compel voter registration officials to produce their records and answer questions about the conduct of their offices.

U. S. District Atty. Hartwell Davis in Montgomery said a short time later his office was "wiping out" a petition to be filed with District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., but declined to say when the action might be taken.

A refusal to obey a federal court order, if Johnson issues one, could bring jail sentences for contempt. In the two-day hearing, which came to an abrupt halt Tuesday, six voter registrars refused to be questioned about registration of voters.

The commission was equally unsuccessful in getting access to the registration files. It had subpoenaed in six counties. In only one—Jefferson—had they been turned over to local authorities.

Alabama Atty. Gen. John Patterson, who directed the massive resistance, denounced the hearing as an unwarranted invasion of states rights.

Patterson, 37-year-old governor-elect, said he welcomed the chance to fight it out in court, and promised to use "every means available to us" to protect the Alabama officials. While he didn't spell it out, it was almost certain that Patterson intends to appeal to higher courts. If the district court orders the registration records surrendered to the commission.

A similar defiant challenge came from Circuit Judge George Wallace of Clayton, Ala., who refused even to appear at the commission hearing. He already had impounded registration records in two counties before the civil rights agency called for them.

Patterson based his action on the argument that: 1. The commission "created by Congress has no right to see 'private and confidential' registration files." 2. The registrars themselves are judicial officers whose official conduct cannot be questioned by the federal fact-finding agency.

Each Candidate Spent Over $2,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Dale Alford and Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark) reported almost identical expenditures for the general election campaign in which Alford unseated Hays.

Alford's statement to the House clerk reported expenses of $2,500. Hays reported $2,338. Both said they put up the money themselves.

Unemployment Virtually at a Standstill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment remained virtually unchanged in November instead of rising seasonally as expected.

The government reported total employment fell by 63,000, to 64,653,000.

Unemployment by Census Bureau count rose 28,000 to 3,433,000. This is considered so small a change as to be within the scope of statistical error. In other words, the figure might have changed just as much the other way.

The Commerce-Labor Department announcement said it represented virtually no change. The factory work week averaged 39.9 hours for two hours longer in November than in October. This was due to a sharp increase in auto industry overtime and in the end of a number of labor strikes.

The longer work week along with some new pay raises pushed factory worker earnings up $1.62 a week to a new high of $88.50. This is $3.60 higher than a year ago. Increases were shown by every industry group.

The new government jobs report reflected a generally improving national economy. The drop in employment was accounted for chiefly by seasonal curtailment of farm activity.

The seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment fell to 5.0 per cent in November, a 13-month low. At the low point in economic activity last spring and again in late summer, this rate had been as high as 7 1/2 per cent.

Reprehensible to Refuse Data, Eisenhower Says

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today called it reprehensible for public officials to refuse to produce evidence about Negro voters registration.

At a news conference the President dealt specifically with such defiance in Alabama and also with defiance of the law generally.

At his first meeting with reporters since Nov. 5, Eisenhower also said he knows of no reason to question reports that the Soviet Union has developed an intercontinental ballistic missile capable of delivering a warhead almost 8,700 miles.

As for published reports the Soviet Union has test flown an atomic-powered plane, Eisenhower said this government has received no intelligence—no reliable information—that they have flown such a plane.

Eisenhower was asked for comment on the refusal by Alabama public officials to supply Negro voter registration data to the federal Civil Rights Commission.

In the light of that development, the commission Tuesday started legal action to compel the officials to produce such data.

The President remarked that he doesn't feel very well about the defiance in Alabama.

He said he picked the commission very carefully, making sure that some Southerners were included on it.

"It's a rather sad sort of thing," Eisenhower went on, "when such defiance develops. He said all around the country we are running into refusals to comply with the basic laws of the land that have been upheld as being legal and proper."

And that, he said, is a reprehensible kind of thing.

The President sounded a new appeal for respect for the law. He said there should be no interference with the right of free men to vote.

Must Protect Berlin, Says Eisenhower

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today that the United States and its allies have a right and duty to protect the freedom of West Berlin and they do not intend to abandon the city or its people.

The President told his news conference he failed to find anything particularly new in the latest suggestions about the Berlin situation from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) relayed the Khrushchev ideas to Eisenhower. The President declined to discuss them in detail, but it was learned elsewhere that he would welcome constructive suggestions from the West for ending Berlin's occupation.

On another aspect of Khrushchev's eight-hour talk with Eisenhower on which Eisenhower received a first-hand report from the senator Tuesday, Eisenhower confirmed that Khrushchev had claimed a compact, five-megaton nuclear bomb and an 8,700-mile missile.

But he indicated he was not especially impressed by this specific information nor did he see any reason to change U. S. estimates of Soviet military power which have long assumed the ability to do massive damage to this country.

Khrushchev claimed the Soviet Union has many nuclear weapons it may soon begin dismantling some of them.

Auto Liability Insurance Is Going Higher

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Auto liability and physical damage insurance rates go up in Arkansas tomorrow. State Insurance Commissioner Harvey Combs said yes. He said liability insurance premiums on most policies will increase about 20 per cent and physical damage charges about 10 1/2 per cent.

The increases had been sought since Dec. 12, 1957, by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the National Automobile Underwriters Assn. on ground that auto repair bills, medical costs and the size of damage claims had risen.

Insurance sources revealed the pending rate increase.

Combs confirmed it, but said that law prevented him from discussing increases before they become effective.

In another action the commissioner said he would sign a formal order today approving a standard hospitalization insurance form returned from a visit in Houston, Texas.

Miss June Hines, student at Ouachita College spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hines.

which was sought by the Arkansas Medical Society.

The Society contended that the various claim forms issued by insurance companies were confusing to doctors and patients.

Horton Newbern of Hope
Mr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Young of Pine Bluff announce the engage- ment and approaching marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Dr. David Horton Newbern, son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Newbern of Hope.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Pine Bluff High School in 1953 and received her B.A. degree from Randolph Macon Woman's Col- lege in 1957 and her master's de- gree from Middlebury Language College in 1958. She was affiliated with the Sigma Delta Psi Honorary Spanish Fraternity and Phi Beta Phi Social Fraternity.

The bridegroom-elect is a 1948 graduate of Hope High School, he received his B.S. degree from the University of Arkansas in 1953, and interned at Parkland Memorial Hospital at Dallas, Texas. He is now serving as a Captain in the U.S. Air Force.

The double ring ceremony will be performed at 4 o'clock Jan. 3 by Rev. Fred R. Harrison of Hot Springs in the Lakeside Methodist Church at Pine Bluff. No cards will be sent.

Graydon Anthony Jr. Honored
With Birthday Party
Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Anthony entertained at the Hope Country Club on Dec. 1 with a party to celebrate the 14th birthday of their son, "Buddy".

The club was very festive with red and green crepe paper, nar- dinas berries and hundreds of col- ored balloons.

Christmas balls and a Santa Claus were on the mantle and the decorations were completed with a pink Christmas tree trimmed in white which had been obtained in Santa Claus Land at North Pole, Colo. The gifts were placed under the tree. The birthday cake had 14 different colored candles on it. Moving pictures were made of the group.

After dancing was enjoyed by 110 guests, candy, pop corn, cook- ies and cold drinks were served.

Assisting with serving the cold drinks were Ray Duke and Harold Douglas. Also assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rounton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nelms, Mrs. F. J. Burrough and Mrs. Maurice Mer- ritt.

Russia Makes Many Claims About Weapon

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev claims the Soviet Union has made so many nuclear weapons that it may soon begin dismantling some of them. One of the weapons, Khrushchev told Sen. Hubert Humphrey a week ago, is an efficient and compact five-megaton hydrogen bomb. A megaton is equivalent to the force of a million tons of TNT.

In missiles development, he said, the Soviets have achieved a missile with a range of 14,000 kil- ometers (8,694 miles).

These are among the highlights of the senator's eight-hour talk with Khrushchev, on which Hum- phrey reported to President Eisen- hower in an 80-minute conversa- tion Tuesday and to State Depart- ment officials Monday.

The new, specific information on Soviet capabilities, or claimed capabilities, in the nuclear weap- ons and military rocket field was described as not surprising.

U.S. officials expressed con- fidence that despite Russian claims, this country has a substantial nu- clear weapon lead over the Sov- iet in numbers, variety and quali- ty.

The United States has tested hy- drogen devices with up to 17 meg- atons of force and a number with 10-megaton yields. More recently it has concentrated on more man- euverable sizes and reportedly has developed an H-bomb so small that several can be loaded into a single B52 bomber.

The importance of a long-range missile lies not so much in its range, officials said, as in its ac- curacy. There was no information available on Russian claims on that score. The United States last week fired an Atlas missile 6,300 miles.

Humphrey himself declined to talk about details of his report, and the White House withheld them at least until their propa- ganda content can be checked.

But closely corresponding re- ports of the contents came both from Senate sources and govern- ment officials.

Officials said it appeared that Khrushchev did not present his weapons information for the im- mediate purpose of threatening or trying to scare the United States but rather to stress the adequacy of Russia's arsenal for a mili- tary showdown.

Actually, officials here said the U.S. government and its allies have long since evaluated the strength of Soviet military power along the lines which the infor- mation Khrushchev gave Humphrey would indicate.

Khrushchev left Humphrey in no doubt that he intends to follow a tough line in the Berlin situation. He spoke of the continued fear- power occupation of Berlin as a "cancer" but at the same time said he would be glad to consid- ered balloons.

Christmas balls and a Santa Claus were on the mantle and the decorations were completed with a pink Christmas tree trimmed in white which had been obtained in Santa Claus Land at North Pole, Colo. The gifts were placed under the tree. The birthday cake had 14 different colored candles on it. Moving pictures were made of the group.

Says America Needs a Robert Frost

By ED CREA6H

WASHINGTON (AP) — Take it from Robert Frost: what Amer- ica needs is Robert Frost. It's got him, in a sense: he's a highly eminent poet, a salty genial old (84) New Englander from San Francisco, and for sev- en months he has been "consult- ant in poetry in English to the Library of Congress."

All this and four Pulitzer prizes are not enough for Frost. "I want to be consulted on ev- erything," he told a news confer- ence Tuesday.

He said the White House has consulted him (on poetry only, though) and the Supreme Court has, too (about what he didn't say) and of the three branches of government only Congress has de- prived itself of his counsel.

"I don't want to run for office," he said, "but I want to be a states- man."

And he broadly hinted that if some senator wanted to retire and let him take claims which baffle mere politicians.

Sherman Adams, for example, He thinks well of Adams, vlcuna coats or no vlcuna coats, because the onetime White House aide un- derstands poetry, Frost says, and several times, while in office, ap- pealed for his advice.

Then there's that little matter of school integration: nothing to it, Frost said. Just give all the kids examinations and let 'em into high school when they understand readin' and writin' and "rithme- tic."

That's the way the white-haired poet talks — down to earth and with fiery a shred of false mod- esty.

With his, he said at one point, the greatest authority "up and down the scale" that you can find anywhere.

He could wish, he said at other points, that some recent presi- dents had more book learnin' — or at least more that stayed with them. He wouldn't give full marks to any president.

Gov. Earl Warren of California, asked him that once and his an- swer was that he was carried away from the west coast as a child-screaming.

And probably chuckling, too.

Navy Plane
Hits 2 Homes,
6 Persons Die

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A crippled Navy tanker plane landed with tons of fuel went out of con- trol just short of its home airstrip here Tuesday and plowed with a flaming roar through two homes. The four crewmen and two infants in one of the homes perished.

The twin-engine North Ameri- can AJ2, just seconds away from the runway at the Norfolk Naval Air Station, clipped tree tops and the roof of a house and sheared through a trailer truck before it smashed into the two homes.

The Navy said preliminary in- vestigation indicated the pilot tried to wreck in a swamp near the two homes.

James H. Miller, who works at the air station, said:
"I saw the plane when it was at least a half a mile away. At that time it was between 150 and 250 feet high and making a normal approach. I noticed as it came closer that the degree of bank of the wings became greater."

"Before the degree reached 90 degrees, I knew a crash was im- minent. The plane was not smok- ing and the engine didn't sput- ter."

One of the two homes smashed by the plane was unoccupied. In the other were Mrs. Joseph E. Tondora, wife of a Navy hon- orant, and two children Joseph Jr., 14 months, and Michaelene, two weeks old. Barbara, 10, was in school.

The nose section of the tanker ripped into the Tondora home. The infants burned to death. Mrs. Ton- dora was burned.

Railroads Want a Rate Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — A half dozen railroads which operate in West, South and Central states, in- cluding Arkansas, want to make a selective 5 per cent increase in their interstate passenger coach fares, effective Jan. 1.

The Interstate Commerce Com- mission made the proposal public yesterday.

The companies also asked the ICC to permit the corresponding changes in interstate passenger fares in Arkansas, Iowa and Texas, where the state legislatures have assumed jurisdiction over passenger rates in an effort to keep them down.

Railroads involved are the Santa Fe system, the Rock Island, Il- linois Central, the KATV, Cotton Belt, Southern Pacific and the Texas-New Orleans Railroad.

Investigation indicated the pilot tried to wreck in a swamp near the two homes.

James H. Miller, who works at the air station, said:
"I saw the plane when it was at least a half a mile away. At that time it was between 150 and 250 feet high and making a normal approach. I noticed as it came closer that the degree of bank of the wings became greater."

Seems to Be No Stopping West Virginia Cagers

BY SHELTON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

There seems to be no stopping the West Virginia Mountaineers as they continue their domination of the Southern Conference.

West Virginia won 26 of its 28 games last season to capture the best win-loss record among major college basketball teams. The Mountaineers won 12 straight conference games, captured their league's tournament championship and wound up as the nation's top-ranked team in the final Associated Press poll.

The tide of Coach Fred Schaus' team over the Citadel 89-61 Tuesday night for their fourth consecutive victory. It was the Mountaineers' third conference success and 39th in a row over a span of four seasons.

West Virginia, ranked No. 4 in the first weekly poll has won the Southern Conference tourney for the past four years. Last season the club bowed to Manhattan in the Eastern regional of the National College championships.

Only two other members of the top 10 teams saw action Tuesday night. North Carolina State, No. 5, edged Clemson 36-34 in an Atlantic Coast Conference game and sixth-ranked Tennessee whipped Wake Forest 61-50 in a non-league affair.

West Virginia, which also has defeated Furman, Miami and Penn State this season, displayed its best brand of ball in outclassing The Citadel. The Mountaineers opened up a 12-point gap early in the second half and coasted the rest of the way.

The Citadel, regarded as a possible threat to WVU's conference supremacy, was stymied by the Mountaineers' pressing defense and went without a field goal for five minutes in the second half.

Bob Clouson, a 6-6 center who has to fill the shoes of the graduated Lloyd Sharrar, found the range for 15 points to spark the West Virginia attack. Junior Jerry

All of the players are seniors.

Bobcat Teams Drop a Pair at Hot Springs

Two Hope teams journeyed to Hot Springs last night and both felt the taste of defeat.

The senior boys dropped a 54 to 34 decision to the Trojans. Watkins was high point for Hope with 20; Hatfield made 7; Thurman 3; and Graves 4. Conley of Hot Springs tossed in 22 points. He had a side jump shot that Hope was unable to stop.

Hope's B boys lost by a 39 to 29 tally. Smith tossed in 14 for Hope, Kevin 4; Jones 6; Walters 6; Turner 6 and Callum 5. Hughes of Hot Springs made 12.

The Bobcats enter the District 4-AA tournament this weekend at Crosssett.

Spring Hill Wins a Pair, at Bodcaw

Spring Hill cage teams won 2 out of 3 games last night in the Bodcaw gym. Sue Harvey looped in 17 points to lead the Spring Hill Junior girls to a 32-23 win Dorothy Joo was high for the losers with 14 markers.

Bodcaw Senior girls grabbed a 38-26 victory with Harila Ward getting 25 tallies. Linda Galloway was high for Spring Hill with 19.

Coach Billy Mitchell's Spring Hill Senior boys pipped in a 39-34 win with James Huckabee getting 17. Robert Cornelius was high for Bodcaw with 12.

Officials were Donald Huckabee and Charles Gough. Spring Hill journeys to Genoa Thursday night for three games.

Roofs Collapse Under Weight of Snow

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP) — Several roofs collapsed today under the weight of more than six feet of snow that is burying this lakeside city.

No one was injured, however. Most of the roofs were on garages, storage houses and Quonset huts. A roof over a two-family house collapsed Monday night.

Sixteen inches of snow that piled up in off Lake Ontario overnight and today raised to 66 inches the total fall since Sunday and to 77 inches the amount on the ground. Officials urged would-be visitors to stay away.

In Oswego, streets were open today for one-way traffic, but the relentless snow dampened hopes that normal living could be resumed. Drifts mounted to 20 feet high.

Oswego, a city of 23,000, was digging out under emergency conditions. Plows rushed in by state agencies and county and local governments aided in the counter-attack on the snow.

A major job in Oswego was removal of snow from roofs of private homes to prevent collapse.

Schools and government offices remained closed.

Industrial plants, shut down because of the storms, made plans to try to resume operations. Skelton forces operated a few plants today.

Newsmaners in N. Y. Publish Despite Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's nine major newspapers published today despite a strike by deliverymen in a contract dispute.

The lack of distribution services limited circulation to counter sales at the newspaper plants.

Members of unions other than newsmaners continued to work generally around some plants. Both morning and afternoon newspapers rolled off the presses about on schedule.

Negotiations between the deliverymen and the New York Publishers Assn. were scheduled to resume today.

The deliverymen walked out Tuesday night after electing by an 877-772 vote to continue terms that had been agreed upon by union and management negotiators.

The deliverymen had struck for eight hours at midnight Sunday but had returned to work after their negotiators approved the proposed pact.

Sharkey Will Referee Fight Tonight

By MURRAY ROSE
MONTREAL (AP) — Jack Sharkey will referee the Archie Moore-Yvon Durelle light heavyweight title fight tonight and the general feeling here is that his main job will be to count ten.

There is hardly a soul in this zero weather French-Canadian metropolis who believes it will end in anything but a knockout.

Archie, making the seventh defense of his 175-pound division crown, remained a solid 14-5 favorite to whip the 29-year-old fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Ann, N.B.

Durelle, a dock worker, said: "One of us will go by the 11th or 12th round. I'm going to win or they're going to carry me out."

If they don't lug him out on his shield, it will go down as one of the great upsets in fight history. Moore, who will celebrate his 42nd, 45th or 49th birthday anniversary three days from now, has a big edge in everything but the calendar.

Ancient Archie can box, punch and absorb a punch far better than the crude, awkward and strong challenger who holds the Canadian and British Empire light heavyweight crowns.

Durelle knows he has to close in on Archie from the opening bell in an attempt to wear down his venerable rival. More, a sharpshooter with either hand, likes nothing better than for an opponent to come to him. Right now he and the late Young Stribling are tied for the all-time, kayo mark at 126.

If the fight should go the 15-round limit, the scoring will be handled by three judges.

Promoter Eddie Quinn predicted 1,000 to 13,000 fans will pay over $100,000 to $25,000. The bout, starting at 10 p.m. (EST), will be televised nationally in the U.S. and States by the ABC network.

Moore, unbeaten in his last 15 fights, has a 74-24-6 record. Durelle's record is 76-19-2, including 29 kayos.

fused a seat with the party of his choice," Carpenter said.

He added, however, that a move to refuse Alford a seat in the House altogether would carry no more weight. "There is precedent for this, but I don't think it will happen," he said.

Carpenter said he did not know at this time how long he will remain in Washington as Alford's secretary. He and Roy Finch Jr., an assistant state attorney general, announced last week they were forming a partnership for private practice of law here.

Finch said he would handle most of the firm's work while Carpenter is in Washington. Both have had limited private practices while holding state jobs.

Governor Has No Plans for Court Hearing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus said today he has no plans to intervene in a Jan. 6 federal court hearing on the Little Rock school integration case.

"I don't see what purpose it would serve at this time," Faubus said. "We'll just wait and see what bridges we have to cross."

U.S. District Judge John E. Miller of Fort Smith has said he will act Jan. 6 on an appellate court mandate ordering positive steps toward implementing integration at Central High School although Central and three other high schools here have been closed by Faubus to forestall integration.

Miller's order is expected to force the Little Rock School Board to challenge a state law under which Faubus closed the schools.

Faubus said he did not want to anticipate overturn of the law but that other measures for retaining segregation were being studied. He said the studies included a plan for employing state funds in the operation of the Little Rock Private School Corps, all while

Conflict in Rights Probe Dramatic

By REJ THMAS 4

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The Civil Rights Commission said today it will ask the Justice Department to take court action if necessary to compel witnesses to testify and produce records for its hearing on voting rights in Alabama.

The two-day hearing ended after the commission's statement.

Six public officials refused to testify Monday about voter registration procedure, and five of them declined even to be sworn as witnesses. Still another, Circuit Judge George Wallace, refused even to appear.

The Southern resistance kept the commission from getting voter registration records in any of the six counties where the files have been subpoenaed. The records had been taken over by state courts or state officials.

The commission got records from the probate judge's office in Macon County, but they showed only the names of voters already registered and contained none of the requested information about prospective voters who have been turned down.

Commission Chairman John A. Hammann announced the decision to seek court action in a climax to two days of testimony which produced repeated statements by Negroes who said they had tried in vain to register.

The commission has no authority under the Civil Rights Act to go directly into court, but must do it through the attorney general's office.

The hearing produced a dramatic conflict between two staunch Southern segregationists. Commissioner John Battle, former governor of Virginia, and 37-year-old Atty. Gen. John Patterson, governor-elect of Alabama and leader of the resistance against the commission's fact-finding inquiry.

After the federal group had spent several hours Monday persistently trying but generally failing to obtain voter registration records and testimony from officials of six Alabama counties, Battle made an unusual plea for better cooperation.

In a statement at the close of the first day of the commission's first public hearing, the tall, white-haired Virginian emphasized that no one believes more strongly than he in racial segregation as a way of life in the South.

But, he said, the Alabama officials are not making a good impression by what looks like an effort to cover up their actions on Negro voting.

He pleaded with them to reconsider, obey subpoenas to deliver their records, and cease to withhold testimony lest "our enemies" capitalize on the situation.

Northern congressmen, he said, will use Alabama's defiant attitude as an argument for a tougher civil rights law.

But Patterson would have none of it. In a blistering statement he rejected the cooperation appeal, saying, "There can be no surrender principle in expediency. The time for retreating has come to an end."

He asserted that the Alabama officials have performed their duties according to the law and have nothing to hide. But, he went on, they are judicial officers and cannot legally comply with the commission subpoenas and orders.

Striking back vigorously, he charged the commission with an unlawful invasion of the rights of the county officials and with violating the U.S. Constitution.

The commission received abundant testimony from Negro witnesses—some of them highly educated faculty members of famed Tuskegee Institute—that they were denied the ballot in Macon County for no other reason than their race and color.

But six county registrars refused point blank to testify about Negro voting or any other phase of their work. Five even declined to take the oath as witnesses.

Adam's mind, as in her own, but in his emotions. This Hope had not known and did not know until the following summer. Now she had definitely turned 30 and in July they celebrated Adam's birthday in a place guarded by mountains with swift running brown water; there were lakes and streams and many trees, and in the hills a continuous shifting of color, light and shadow.

It was here that Jupiter was murdered, and here that Hope was unable to give Adam the familiar support, for his reaction, incredible to her, was one of anger, not merely against the driver of the car, which was rational, but against Jupiter.

They were in the hotel bedroom. Hope's eyes were red; she wept for the Irish of whom she had been fond; she wept for Adam.

The driver had stopped. There was a veterinarian in the village beyond. Adam did not try to speak of the trip, and the unhappy, apologetic man at the wheel, of his wife, who talked too much, nor of the weight of the dog in his arms.

No use. No use at all. But after a while he said, "He tried to pay me!"

It had happened toward the end of the holiday. They spent their last week in another place, as mountainous but different; they had their own cottage. Hope had said, "Let's get out of here." And he'd nodded. By the time they went home — to face Mrs. Riggs — his anger was controlled but still there.

During the rest of the holiday Hope tried to think her way into Adam's anger, and found herself thinking into grief, for grief can contain anger. Now she remembered the time when the baby was lost to them; there had been a moment when she thought, incredulous, that Adam was angry at her.

Furthermore, she recalled for the first time in years that he had spoken of it to her, weeks later, as together they looked back upon the bad time. "I was so mad," he said.

She remembered that she had asked, "At me?" not dreaming he'd say yes. He'd said it. "Of course. Because I was scared. I thought, How dare you threaten me? Crazy that was. Me too."

This memory had remained submerged. Now it rose to the surface and she knew that his anger against Jupiter was pure grief. Not, in Jupiter's case, fear, except perhaps for the brief time when, in Adam's arms, the dog had lived. How dared Jupiter permit his own murder? How dared he inflict his wounds upon Adam?

Adam had said, going home, "We'll never have another dog. Too much wear and tear."

She did not argue. It was not the right time, perhaps there never would be a right time. Instead, she put all her courage together in one heart-shaped piece

Publishes a Book Author Didn't Write

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Massachusetts Institute of Technology has announced publication and bought the puppy for Adam's Christmas. She went to great pains to conceal him, courtesy of Mrs. Riggs's son, who fetched him early Christmas morning asleep in a basket and they put him under the tree. Mrs. Riggs and Hope pining silently that he would continue to sleep; usually they don't.

Presently he came downstairs, half falling his hair on end. Mrs. Riggs kept discreetly out of sight but peered around a door.

The Christmas present spoke.

Adam swore.

He said, "Susan—" this was the Susan in anger — "You didn't— you know I didn't want—"

"You don't have to have him," Hope said; "there are other people who'd want him." She looked away. No tears, she thought, I never have, just to get something. I won't in order to give something.

The Titan-haired object wobbled from the basket and looked at a new world. He didn't like it particularly. What intelligent infant does? He was old enough to leave home, however, and so experience a sense of adventure. He smelled something pleasant; it smelled, he thought, like security. He wandered over to Adam and chewed sharply at a slipper toe.

She had had many doubts and had consulted Dan about breeds, and Dan advised, "Get him a cocker or terrier. Something different."

But she hadn't been able to imagine Adam with anything but an Irish. The dog now scooped up in Adam's arms was a distant relative of Jupiter's but would develop his own personality.

"What's his name?" asked Adam.

She told him the kennel name. "Kennel names," said Adam, "are fantastic. Aren't they, Boy?"

So the dog which wasn't intended to replace Jupiter — for, if Hope had learned anything, it was that you don't replace—the dog which was merely to grow up and into Adam's heart was Boy.

A commoner name you couldn't select. Of course he would go to every passing stranger who snapped his fingers and said, "Here, boy." A generic title, just as people call taxi drivers Mac and Pullman porters George or Sam. Adam conceded it was without dignity and, in the collective sense, an affront, but he had every intention of teaching his dog the difference between a term and his personal name.

of a book which its author did not write.

The book, "nonlinear problems," with which the book is concerned, are those in which addition of inputs does not produce addition of outputs.

For example, one pill may make you well; two pills won't make you twice as well.

As M.I.T. officials explained about the book Monday:

Dr. Wiener did not want to write the book because he was reluctant to strain his eyes.

He couldn't dictate it because no mathematician could make notes fast enough to keep up with him.

A stenographer was of no value because he couldn't understand the long and complex equations which went into it.

The problem, however, was solved by two colleagues, Prof. Yik-Wing Lee and Amar G. Rose.

They persuaded Dr. Wiener to present the material in a series of lectures.

A tape recorder made a verbal record of what Dr. Wiener said.

Dr. Lee, a mathematician and ardent amateur photographer, sat among the students and took hundreds of pictures of the mathematical formulae which Dr. Wiener drew on blackboards.

Then Drs. Lee and Rose organized a team of students and a secretary and translated the photographs and tape into a manuscript.

Seeking Ways to Eradicate Pink Worm

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Three recommendations which would eradicate the pink boll worm, a threat in Arkansas will be adopted by the State Plant Board, an official predicted today.

Lloyd Fulkerson, chairman of the board, said the recommendations were:

1. Cotton stalk destruction in every Arkansas county by Jan. 31.
2. Culling of a gins by Feb. 5 and disposal of all seeds, gin trash and other refuse by Feb. 15.
3. Fumigation of seed grown in Clay County and in the Buffalo and land areas of Mississippi and Craighead counties before planting. Seed sent to oil mills would be excluded.

The Plant Board held a public hearing today to consider revision of Arkansas pink boll worm rules.

Fulkerson said the three recommendations were made by the board's pink boll worm committee.

"We ask only that the cleaning and destruction be carried out a little further than is ordinarily done," said Fulkerson. "Arkansas is the only major cotton producing area in the world not completely infested with the pink boll worm."
